Tour I: Activity #5: Nursing Theory and Public Health
Directions: Take some time to reflect on what you have learned; use additional paper as needed to complete the activities.
•	Select a population (i.e. teenagers who are pregnant).
•	Using Roy's adaptation model identify the input, control processes, effectors, output and feedback loop for the selected subpopulation.
•	Identify three specific health outcomes for this population.